Quick-Hitting, Cloud-Throttling Hardware . with Cloud-Throttling Hardware to Support Always-On Connectivity. Cisco Takes the Next Step in the Evolution of Networking with the Cisco SPA-850 Platform. At the Cisco Live Americas event in San Jose, CA, on May 10-11, the company previewed its innovative new networking solutions, including. Dubbed as an “internal wet dream,” the Cisco SPA-850 platform delivers the best of two worlds: It enables the ability to deploy hardware that has fast, always-on connectivity and a web console that supports real-time applications and offers the speed needed to support these. Meanwhile, in a virtualized software architecture, the Cisco SPA-850 platform offers new levels of real-time application performance, as well as a new level of security. In addition, the Cisco SPA-850 offers the industry’s highest port density for a small form factor and a wide range of integrated remote-management capabilities. The platform’s unique modularity provides an unprecedented level of configuration flexibility. To demonstrate the power of the SPA-850, several real-world examples were showcased during the event, including a multisite wireless network with up to 60 sites per switch, VoIP, and critical network management applications. “The combination of real-time performance and an intuitive web interface gives us the ability to run a variety of real-time applications,” says Rama Shankar, chief technology officer at UC San Diego. “The SPA-850 is a leap forward in delivering a powerful set of network services in an always-on, virtualized environment.” Solutions Overview At the heart of the Cisco SPA-850 is a high-performance and high-density I/O module, specifically developed for the needs of small form-factor (SFF) hardware deployments. This “Internal Wet Dream” is designed to meet the networking, firewall, and real-time application requirements of a wide range of IT environments, including: The Cisco SPA-850 is a modular platform that offers a range of optional modules that include security and WAN connectivity features. The modularity of the Cisco SPA-850 allows the platform to scale to meet customers’ needs. For example, if a customer needs a more powerful security module, it can be swapped in without having to replace the module with a new system. The
